TODAY'S WIN

You introduced yourself naturally, asked relevant follow-up questions and kept the conversation going without switching to Spanish.

Words worth keeping

follow-up question
A question that builds on what someone has just said.

What do you enjoy most about your role?

get to know
To become familiar with someone over time.

It was great getting to know you.

background
Your past experience, education or personal history.

Could you tell me a little about your background?

Say it better

YOU SAID
I am work in sales.
TRY THIS
I work in sales.

Use the present simple for your regular job.

Sound more natural interested

Stress the first syllable: IN-ter-ested.

I am interested in design.

Session review - continued

Keep this in mind

Keep the conversation moving.
After answering, add one detail and ask a related question.

I work in sales, mainly with local businesses. What about you?

Your performance

CLASS NOTES
Introductions and first conversations: describe your role, share interests and ask follow-up questions.

A NOTE FROM YOUR TEACHER
Your introduction was clear and engaging. You connected your ideas smoothly and asked thoughtful follow-up questions. Keep practising the difference between I work and I am working.

YOUR NEXT MOVE
Record a 45-second introduction. Include your role, one personal interest and two questions you could ask a new colleague.
