TODAY'S WIN
You wrote friendly, concise messages, clarified a misunderstanding and adjusted your tone for a group chat.

Words worth keeping

catch up
To talk and share recent news.

Let us catch up after work.

follow up
To contact someone again about an earlier message or conversation.

I am following up on our plans for Friday.

leave someone on read
To read a message without replying.

I did not mean to leave you on read.

Say it better

YOU SAID
Can you explain me the plan?
TRY THIS
Can you explain the plan to me?

Use explain something to someone.

Sound more natural

message
Stress the first syllable: MES-sage.

I sent you a message.

Session review - continued

Keep this in mind

Make the next step clear.
End your message with a specific question or action.

Does 6 pm work for you? Please let me know by noon.

CLASS NOTES
Everyday messaging: confirm plans, clarify meaning and choose a friendly tone for a group chat.

A NOTE FROM YOUR TEACHER
Your messages sounded natural and your tone matched the situation. You clarified the plan politely and used follow up accurately. Next, make your requests even more concise without losing warmth.

YOUR NEXT MOVE
Write three short messages: confirm a plan, ask for clarification and politely change a meeting time. Use one natural follow-up phrase in each.
